Nutmeg, Myristica fragrans

Tips:

- Grate nutmeg with a nutmeg grater or the fines blade of a box grater just before using for best flavor.
- Add ground nutmeg towards the end of cooking because heat will diminish the flavor.
- To test a whole nutmeg for freshness, insert a needle approximately 1 centimeter into the whole nut. A tiny drop of oil will seep out if the nut is fresh.
- Store whole nutmegs, tightly sealed in a cool, dark location.

Cocoa and Spice Slow-Roasted Pork with Onions

Spice Rub:
½ tablespoon whole white peppercorns
½ tablespoon whole coriander seeds
2 tablespoons coarse sea salt (preferably gray crystals)
1 tablespoon plus 2 ¼ teaspoons unsweetened cocoa powder
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ teaspoon ground cloves

Pork and Onions:
6 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
3 ¾ to 4 pounds onions, thinly sliced
1 ½ cups water
1 5-pound pork shoulder butt with bone
1 ½ tablespoons chopped fresh sage

For the Spice Rub:
Stir peppercorns and coriander in a small skillet over medium heat until spices are darker in color, about 5 minutes. Transfer toasted spices to spice grinder; grind finely. Place in a small bowl; mix in remaining ingredients. Do Ahead: Can be made 1 week ahead. Cover and let stand at room temperature.

For Pork and Onions:
Heat oil in large pot over medium heat. Add onions and sage; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Sauté 10 minutes. Add 1 ½ cups water; cover and cook until onions are soft, about 15 minutes. Uncover; continue to cook until onions are beginning to brown and water has evaporated, about 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, preheat oven to 300˚F. Sprinkle spice rub on large sheet of foil. Roll pork in rub, pressing to coat (some of rub will be leftover). Set pork on rack in large roasting pan. Top pork with ½ of onions; scatter remaining onions around pork in pan.

Roast pork and onions until onions are deep brown, stirring occasionally, about 3 hours. Transfer onions from pan to medium bowl. Continue to roast pork until very tender and thermometer inserted into center registers 165˚F, about 2 ½ hours longer. Transfer pork to platter. Rewarm onions in microwave at 10 second intervals and season with salt and pepper; spoon around pork.
